a companion to come over here. Why don't you come with her?

I've been making small braided rag rugs for the bath rooms, ~~and~~ Am also playing piano for the dancing teacher. No light task - Three P.M.s a week.

I'm glad Grandpa Peam liked his spoon & fork. Everyone over here has theirs hanging on their fire places.

Nora is busy with her school work. She can write

Dear Gramma Peam -

We received your nice center piece - and between meals it is on the dining table.
The small one is on the book case. Your picture is on the mantel. Thank you a thousand times. How do you have the patience, the eyes and the time to do such delicate work. It is very nice.

We are all well here - I heard from Myrna & she is going to take a cottage at Carmel for a short time. so you may be which is seldom. She is almost always dominating over Kate but in her sweetest moments they get along beautifully. Kate is easily crushed. She learns all forms etc. very quickly. Kate does. Sally has many words and she practices on them. She is beginning to make sentences like "Home - chow - baby - swearing I'm going home to eat. She calls herself baby. more la'la Kate still call Nora la la and always will because she can say Nora. Every one remarks what a lovely and unique name Nora is. I love all their names. I just read a story in Collier of a Sarah Lee, a southern gal. my brother is marrying a Los Angeles girl - a teacher & a peach he says, which is the only description I have or will ever get from him. He is starting a practice in Enolan or Mapa. If you see my Ma - talk up strong about visiting over here.

Lots of love to all.

Ruth.
