Dear Keshes,

I am a little late writing this for Keshes' Day, but I am thinking of you any way. And I hope you are well and enjoying life. Also that Dad and family are well.

Dad just arrived yesterday. I have not seen him yet, and if I wait to see him before I post this letter it will not go until Monday. I was not in when he called up, and the girls were at school, so he had to call Lee Doney and Rodney's man near to town for him. I was here in Doney's just as the man came out. That is how I know about Dad.

Well, Jessie is still in the hospital. They put a new cast on her Tuesday, and it is still hurting her. She has a developed pain in the body and chest. The doctor say they are afraid no more money, so it may be fluency or gas. I hope you are well.

over turned such pain while they put the cast on. I expected to be able to ^{run} my house to day, but now I must leave her there until those pains have subsided.

I think her leg is pretty well knit now. I helped put the cast on, and there seemed to be no bend in it then. She will have to have the cast on for a month or six weeks yet, however. I think the doctors did a very good job of setting it.

Spring is not opening up as fast as I thought it would. It is wet and quite cold so that spring work is slow, and we grate.

I just got me a Spanish sheep header so now I will be able to start to farming if it will just clear up and dry out a little.

Best wishes and love to you from myself and family
I. Wesley.
