Dear Mother:

I am feeling fine now I feel like I would like to get up but of course they won't let me. I haven't much of any news but I will write it to let you know I am still kicking.

Longhas was just down here for the first time. He stayed in until about 30 minutes after closing time but they had to get him out. I guess he will be able to get down once a week now anyway.

Ask Bill if any of the patients ever ate the sweets out of the wire and left them without lights. That happened here last night. That's all!

.....191.....

We are getting along
pretty good (loafers here).
I hope the world boys bring me some extra when ever
they have more than enough for the trays.

Guess you can imagine how the patients look for the meals. We call it a brown and certainly look for it.
Did I tell you everyone
has to wash his hands and face at 5:00 AM and then wait until 7:00 for chow? That is a regulation.
And they start the first morning after they are operated on.

Guess that is all there new Love to all from your Loving son
