Miss Mary C. Cockett:-

Wagon State:

Dear Sister:

I presume business prevents your writing, but you must try not to write over much and don't just start to knit blue silk ribbon and fifty needles, but I better use cross stitch. Now do you think God will ever forgive one for commissioning out to this "middle ground" hole? I have never so quipped about before I would not have rather know what things are said for my thing sometimes. I get so angry that I think I will go to the parties and teach them a lesson and I and so avoid that I conclude to sleep on the subject, well in the morning I laugh at myself and think the thing beneath my notice,

I do not know whether Pa. F. has heard any of the gossip or not but I think he will if he has it is as bad on him as on me, I believe he is going home on a visit Christmas and then you see. I will have to remain here as my poverty compels me to, I wish I had never come here I now learn that there is a project of their claim the Whites (mine at least) for a couple of months in the coldest of the winter, and if they do so I shall go home to stay (that is if I have money enough more one)

Didn't I tell you that I have some of the very prettiest of muscatels and water agates? well I have and I am going (if it does not shame) on Saturday about two miles and gather me some more I wish Rosie were here to go with me.

Our Chessie goes to school now, who teacher of our school? is it Miss Pugh? write me one good long letter and tell me all the news.

Why been there and about Henry not write with love to all,
Yours lovingly

Mary
