berleaving, and said it was No 4 that had exploded, well I dressed and Mrs B, and I went down to No 4 (it is one mile from here) to learn all we could about it well we had got nearly there when some men came running from there and had us go back as they were looking any minute for another explosion, and the very ground we were on was dangerous, well there were thirteen killed, our best trustee, the Pres. of the Y, Mr. M. J. A., the Bp's son in law two little boys ~~and~~ etc the gas was so bad they could not get down in the mine for hours, the first company of men that did go down (only a very short way) did not return as soon as the people thought they should, so some went to look for them and found them some and nearly dead. They dragged them out as quickly as possible

Dear Sister Nora:

Five minutes ago
I received your long looked for letter.
Now I think mother wrongs me, I write to her as often as I can find any thing to write I have written to her four times since I have heard from home. It is now two weeks since I have had a letter, Oh! Nora I have something very terrible to write you it is so bad and my nerves are so upset. I can hardly gather my thoughts together,

Well last Tuesday night I went to a meeting had a very good time, some home talked until eleven o'clock went to bed ^{got to} Thinking on different subjects until my temples throbed quite painfully. had been in bed about 10 minutes when I heard a terrible sound. I had filled my stove as full as it could be with coal before I went to bed and shut all the drafts I thought at first my stove had burst & all the pipes, but did not look to see but went on calmly thinking and could still hear the noise. Mrs. Beveridge (live in part of her house) began shrieking "O my God Mr. Smith. No. 2 has exploded and pa Beveridge must be dead." I do not know what ailed me but I calmly arose went to her room. tried to quiet her told her it was only the engine throwing off steam. all she was nearly crazy and shrieked and screamed you never saw what I did or you would know better. well I walked to my door looked out; it was a beautiful moon light night I looked at No. 2 (it is not a half block from my home) well there was a cloud hanging over it as black as any thing you ever saw it was not many minutes until the cloud had disappeared. Oh Nora the gas was terrible; well I was still very calm took care of her 5 children while she ran half dressed to Mrs. B's I began dressing and watching were running fast, and trying to quiet Pa who was almost going into fits, to tell the truth Nora through all my calmness, I thought very but have had some.

Mrs. B. came back still crying and in one place, a leg in another, his heart in another, his entrails in another, and his body half a mile away, the other was found, also terribly mangled.

The cars were sent nearly a quarter of a mile all torn to pieces and The rails were blown up and bent in all shapes, some large timbers were sent clear through.
The boarding house one went through the roof and ceiling and tore a mans head to pieces if he had not been at a party he would have been killed. one man that lived close by jumped up to see what was the matter, took his baby in his arms, told his wife to follow, started into the other room a broker been knocked him on the arm and he fell backward just in time to prevent a stone that weighed some where over a ton from falling on him, I have seen all the wrecks, and it looks strange that you can do such things iron are bent double that I would not have thought any power on earth could have bent, broken timbers dirt etc. was thrown nearly to my door.

I went down to the mine the next day and the wives, mother, father, & nephews all were there almost frantic and were waiting and waiting for the bodies of their dear ones. while I stood there they brought up two bodies they had heard the explosion coming and had thrown themselves down on their faces to save themselves and they had not been burned much but what they call fire damp (I suppose they mean heavy bad air) had killed them, two poor men (one of them I had deemed with a few nights before) had not been killed by the exp. but on account of the air had left the room they were working in and gone quite a distance to some water (they people say if there is any pure air it can be found - over water) and when they were found their faces were in the water, they must have suffered agonies knowing that if relief did not come soon they must die. There were thousands of tons of coal thrown down and they had great difficulty in finding all the bodies. There were two of the men working in the entry at the time and they think that one of them must have caused the accident, as his body was terribly mangled there was so much gas in the mine and while in the car loading the coal his lamp must have touched it off the two firemen were burned black one of them was the trustee and I went to see him I could only tell him by the shape of his nose he looked as though he had never had either beard or hair.

I also went to see Willie Peterson the son of the man who keeps the boarding house where I boarded) he had been burned some but when they and it was a half hour before they could see life in them.

I forgot to say that just as the 14, was going to take place two Brothers got in the cars to go down into the mine, and the train was going coming back with the firemen and the two little boys well a good man by the name of Cooper was standing near the cars as they were going to start down and although of staying there until it returned, but changed his mind and went down into the engine room he only got there in time to barely save his life. Now can you imagine those two boys starting down the mine with almost lightning speed to meet the explosion. They could not have been half way down when they were driven back with such force that at eight o'clock next morning the head of one was found hanging he had asked me several times to go some evening and he would have taken me through the mine. I am thankful I was not in the mine that evening.

I have had a terrible time with Or, she could not sleep for about 80 hours and would almost go into fits, she would pray and beg by turns to go home, they thought there was danger of another $\frac{1}{4}$, and the whole mountain is filled with gun and fire, and the whole mountain might $\frac{1}{4}$, there is a powder magazine ~~about~~ a quarter of a mile from our house and I hardly blame her for being nervous I do not know what has made me so calm in four weeks from now $\frac{1}{4}$ they are going to close school for 4 weeks I think I shall be obliged to go home for that length of time I think I have never ever so long since as I when O. got sent me his picture he done it up in brown paper can not you tell the same with two pictures as I do so long to get it from him my love to Bro. Will and tell him to send me a specimen of his hand writing also a bird trawer with pen I want to show it to Mrs. F. I have been bragging Will so don't disappoint me please write soon forgive all mistakes in this as I shall not look the letter over

I am as ever your loving Sister

My dear aunt I wish I was here for some way scared for fear that the mine will explode but I'm sure it won't it will not explode one of my friends was killed in the mine and one of the bottles was broken I bet you nuts taste very good seeing you stole them from the mice I feel sorry for the poor little things. I wish you was coming home soon.
 I guess ma has told you all the news so I don't think I will write any more this time. a little such girl come pretty near getting drowned but she got out I will quit will love to all & remain your niece. Ca.

washed him the black skin came off I saw the skin that came off of his hands and and it looked almost like black gloves only the nails were there on the ends the poor little fellow had one hand raised as though he had seen the danger coming and raised his hand as though to protect himself, I also saw the men that had put their faces into the water to get ~~protection~~ breath.
 The bodies were all sent away but 4 and they were taken to the hall for a funeral sermon speaker H. the trustee (Bro Cumrock) had spent ^{the} Saturday evening with me before the accident and now I can almost imagine I can see him sitting in the same place
