Nora → Will

Beautiful letter of her love and wanting to be together

I just came down last night & I got so tired the children too were tired - very tired. Wesley slept a good part of the night & I had to be up & down with him all night - I guess he is pretty well today.

Roxie has quite a nice baby, it looks odd to see John call him self papa or Dad. Wesley is beginning to fret again so I can scarcely write, I do not know what is the matter with him. He will not let me out of his sight a moment.

Oh! Will I wish things were so we could be together & never be separated for even a day. Can you imagine what a trial it will be for me if we are can not be in our own little home again for an indefinite length of time. When I think of it my heart is full & I am so afraid that something will happen to break up our home circle or cause our lives to be shadowed. I will do my best dear Will, & trust you will do the same & if we are as good as we know how to be, God will favor us with his blessings & I trust this cloud I seem to feel will pass away & it may all be brightness once more.

If I can get a school I think it best that I should teach to help get out of debt although it will be very hard work. If the children keep well I can stand it & when I once get good & started I shall not complain but work very hard for the end in view
