Genella seems pretty good, although she flares now and then and has a sort of <sup>mess</sup> roughness on her back and thighs as she's had before, you know. I am very careful to keep her from all wool, and animal dander.

Dearest Mother,

We are always so glad when your letter comes. He misses you over at the house. I have been over once or twice and all is the same except a little dust.

Norma has been sick as you must know by now. She is better, however. I was over to her new house yesterday and everything is painted and looks so fresh and clean. The house is heated, too.

I had club last Friday. Mabel was here, but no F both of them, especially Marnie as she said she would come.

You should see my
lonely poinsettia ger-anium! The blossom

cent piece. I am so glad it grew. Some

they are growing nicely.

We have fired a
heat now and it is very comfortable.

Ken and Wesley are

but to get pens
has been snowed on once and I do hope we get what's left today.

I substituted for Helen for two weeks and it was real pleasant. The time went very fast. I have not received my pay
yet.

Ken has built me a
nic corner cupboard
in my living room. He also has a window in the kitchen door which is very pleasant.

Today it is very cold
and I am glad we have the heat. I washed clothes and they are
