Edith & Children
send their cards

I ate supper with Mr. Garrison Albee and had a pleasant time Started for the ranch just before sundown Met Miss Ginnie Young Oh! she gave me such a look with her melting brown eyes that would have made my heart quake. had I not been thinking of you The sun went down before I got to the outlet when on the side a few mi.
I took off the bridle + let my horse eat (near the place I stoped on Sun.) I lie down + fell a sleep + slept 2 min. on waking I started + got home about 11.
I read your letter over 5 or 6 times + thought continually of you

The little boy has come to tell me to come to dinner so good bye

Your Everlasting Friend

Friend Nora

I was very much pleased on receiving your welcome letter last evening. I got one from home at the same time + one from a friend I never dreamed of. The one from home was very short + only one half sheet - but was quite newsy My cattle are doing well + worth $50 per head. I am lucky for once in my life. but I had better not tray to soon. have been breaking a colt + just been down on the hay land. While I was driving around I thought to myself I have as much stand as any body & as nice a ranch Wish you could have seen it!

Folks are all well at home Edith & the children send their cards, one each for you, I don't know what you care for them, but I will send them to you. They send them as a token of friendship. They think or imagine there is no one like Aaa Aaa is ^{the} ~~the~~ ^{one} you see with my father, ^{picture} the favorite of the family

Well here you did not answer the questions I asked you. I will excuse you though. How did you get along on your trip. How I was in Paris when you were loading up to start. I stood on Mr Collins pach & looked at you but could not get you to see me Mrs Golden was some what surprised to think you did not call & see her. & stopping so close to I thought it strange too. I had a pleasant chat with her for a few moments. When I went down ^{town}, I expected to find you there & thought I would get to peak ^{a word} to you without those jealous sisters ^{of} Mr Rich looking at me. After leaving I went up town expecting to see you there. I was told that Mr Francis Rich had gotten his collar bone broken & I went to see him. While I left I noticed your wagon standing in front of Mr Budget's I was just one block South. I guess you did not see me.

On leaving Mr R - I went to the Coop & expected to see you pass. While here an argument arose about the Tabernacle in regard to the quantity of stone to settle it we went & asked Mr Jensen (the foreman) I was mistaken & they claiming the treat so we retired to the ice cream parlor. Here is where we must have been if when you folks left town - I met Miss Hunt (the Bishop's daughter of St C) Well the time spent here was like any & all ~~other~~ ^{such} places. It has lost its charm for me long since. When we left Paris I thought I would catch you. You must have driven very fast. for when we got to St C - nothing could be found of the party or heard from - but your letter & that was all I looked for Since over and I have come down to get some fishhooks to go fishing. but the wind is blowing so hard I will write till it falls

O! How it blows! Almost a Johnny Cain. If we were on the lake now we would have a good time. How would you like to cross the lake when the waves are running high? I would have given any thing to have had you a lone Sunday evening. It would have been my hearts delight to have taken you out so far that no one could have seen us. When I could have returned smile for smile with out ainy one to ^{be} jealous. When we were I could not look at you with out Mr. R - watching me. And judging the stamp of his character I knew it would give him many jealous pangs and make your trip home very disagreeable. You were thoroughly under stood and appreciated if not returned as you may think it was treasured up in memory's basket P! I wished for your society a lone more than you may think Well it is passed and I hope you had a very very pleasant trip. You might have had a better time under different circumstances

You said there was something wanting & asked me to tell you what it was.

I did not see that any thing was wanting to complete your pleasure if all had been sociable as they should

One thing I did notice that your anxiety was taxed very heavy. You were anxious that I should not feel burdensome to the crowd and that E. R. Esq. would not get jealous You were trying to please two, which is very hard to do. If you had been done with W. R. you would not have felt so badly In such a case I freely pardon you. On the 24th in company with W. R.

(Which no doubt you'll be) Do not worry about me for I believe what you have said & will trust you.
I would have liked to have spent the day with you but I see it is out of the question I shall be in R if all is well, and manage to see you secretly which way I prefer. Paper is getting short & you may be glad of it I will finish by enclosing the cards mentioned

Sincerely yours
W. R. Dean
